

Lenče Miloševa is Full Professor of Medical Psychology, Developmental psychopathology and Psychotherapy at Faculty of Medical Science, Goce Delčev University, Štip, Macedonia and Advisor for Scientific Cooperation at the same University. She received her first Ph.D. in Developmental Social Psychology and Clinical psychology at University in Skopje, Macedonia. She finished second Doctoral studies and received second Ph.D. in Clinical psychology, Psychopathology and Psychotherapy at University of Belgrade, Serbia. As a JFDP fellow, Prof. Lenče Miloševa was visiting professor of Developmental psychopathology and CBT at Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, USA. Her primary research areas include Psychopathology and CBT & REBT psychotherapy. She is the author of numerous publications in referent journals with impact factor, author of textbooks and monographs with topics in Psychopathology and Psychotherapy. Along with knowledge from CBT and Systemic and family psychotherapy, she continues with her professional development in Psychotherapy and currently is involved in IV year, clinical program Associate Fellow of Albert Ellis Institute in Rational-Emotive & Cognitive Behavior Therapy at REBT – Belgrade, Affiliated Training Center of Albert Ellis Institute, New York. She is also WHO`s National coordinator for Mental health in Macedonia and one of creators for a new National strategy for mental health.